Glossary; terminology clarification:

Weekly Licence Fee (also referred to as the Occupancy Fee)

Any reference to fees, charges, or payments in any communication refers to the Licence Fee or Occupancy Fee and does not constitute rent under a residential tenancy.

Security Contribution

A one-off security amount payable at commencement of a licence, refundable on exit subject to the conditions set out in the Private Occupancy Licence.

0. Interpretation and Priority

These House Rules & Operational Guidelines form part of the occupancy arrangement but are subordinate to the Private Occupancy Licence.

In the event of any inconsistency, ambiguity, or conflict between these House Rules and the Private Occupancy Licence, the Private Occupancy Licence prevails.

Nothing in these House Rules limits, overrides, or waives the rights, discretions, or remedies of management under the Private Occupancy Licence unless expressly stated in writing by the house manager.

1. Occupancy fee

Welcome to the household!

Occupancy at the premises is offered on a temporary and discretionary basis for the purpose of shared community living. Occupants are granted permission to occupy a designated sleeping space and to use shared common areas in accordance with these House Rules and the Private Occupancy Licence.

Occupancy is limited to the specific designated sleeping space allocated and does not confer exclusive possession of any part of the premises. Access to common areas is provided as a shared privilege and may be managed, restricted, or withdrawn at the discretion of the house manager.

In consideration of this permission to occupy, occupants are required to pay a mandatory weekly occupancy fee (also referred to as the licence fee). This fee contributes toward shared household costs, including but not limited to utilities, council charges, taxes, insurance, maintenance, repairs, services, suppliers, and operational expenses associated with managing the household.

Occupants are also expected to reasonably assist in maintaining shared living standards through appropriate use of facilities and compliance with cleaning, behaviour, and operational rules.

Consumables are not included in the occupancy fee. Consumables include, but are not limited to, toilet paper, paper towels, cleaning products, cleaning cloths, toiletries, food, drinks, water filters, ice, ice trays, replacement cleaning supplies, and similar personal or shared-use items.

Occupancy is temporary in nature and subject to ongoing suitability, compatibility with the household, and compliance with all rules and management directions.

Nothing in this section creates a residential tenancy, lease, or right of exclusive occupation.

2. Quiet Hours and Noise Management

2.1 Purpose

The household operates as a shared living environment. Noise management is essential to ensure rest, safety, productivity, and harmony for all occupants. Compliance with quiet hours and noise standards is a condition of occupancy.

2.2 Designated Quiet Hours

Quiet hours apply as follows:

- Weekdays: 10:00 pm to 7:00 am
- Weekends: 11:00 pm to 8:00 am

During quiet hours, noise must be kept to a level that is not audible or disruptive to others. Exception: house manager and its representatives to work in maintenance afterhours.

Doors must be closed gently at all times. Occupants must use door handles when opening and closing doors and must not slam, bang, or allow doors to shut forcefully. Unnecessary noise caused by careless door use, especially during quiet hours, is not acceptable and may result in warnings or further action.

2.3 Noise Restrictions

During quiet hours, occupants must minimise all forms of noise, including but not limited to:

- loud conversations or phone calls,
- neighbour disturbances,
- music, television, or audio without headphones,
- video calls on speaker,
- household activities that generate impact or vibration,
- any behaviour that disrupts rest or sleep.

Occupants must remain considerate of others at all times, regardless of personal schedules or preferences.

2.4 Common Areas

Noise must be kept to a reasonable minimum in common areas at all times, including hallways, staircases, kitchens, bathrooms, and shared living spaces, even outside designated quiet hours.

2.5 Permitted Quiet Activities

During quiet hours, only low-impact and quiet activities are permitted, including:

- reading or studying,
- use of headphones for audio or video content,
- quiet computer or phone use,
- other non-disruptive activities approved by management.

2.6 Exceptions and Special Circumstances

Occupants who work night shifts or have exceptional circumstances must discuss these with the house manager in advance. Any accommodation of special circumstances is at the sole discretion of management and may be limited, conditional, or withdrawn at any time. Approval is not guaranteed.

2.7 Incompatibility and Household Disruption

Occupancy may be terminated where an occupant is deemed incompatible with the household environment.

For the purposes of this Rule, incompatibility is defined as a pattern of conduct that disrupts the household, including but not limited to repeated conflict, refusal to comply with management directions, or behaviour requiring management intervention.

Incompatibility may be established by two (2) or more documented incidents, written warnings, or verified complaints requiring management involvement.

Management's determination of incompatibility is based on documented events and operational impact, not personal preference.

Incompatibility is objectively established upon the issuance of a second written warning for any conduct-related breach.

2.8 Enforcement and Consequences

Failure to comply with quiet hours or noise management requirements may result in:

- warnings,
- written notices,
- restrictions on common area use,
- non-renewal of the licence,
- termination of occupancy in accordance with the Private Occupancy Licence.

Serious or repeated noise disturbances may be treated as a serious breach.

2.9 Emergency Situations

Quiet hours do not restrict occupants from responding to genuine emergencies, including but not limited to:

- fire,
- break-ins,
- medical emergencies,
- electrical hazards.

Situations that are not emergencies, such as insects or minor inconveniences, do not justify unnecessary noise during quiet hours.

2.10 Guests

Occupants are strictly and fully responsible for the conduct, behaviour, and compliance of any guest they invite onto the premises, at all times and without exception.

Occupants must inform all guests of the House Rules, including quiet hours, behavioural standards, and management directions, prior to granting access to the premises.

Any breach of these rules by a guest is treated as a breach by the occupant who invited the guest, regardless of whether the occupant was present at the time of the breach.

Serious, repeated, or disruptive conduct by a guest, including noise disturbances, safety concerns, refusal to comply with directions, or interference with household operations, may result in immediate termination or non-renewal of the occupant's licence, at the sole discretion of management.

Management is not required to issue warnings to guests or occupants prior to taking action.

Management may require a guest to leave immediately and may require the occupant to vacate as a result of the guest's conduct.

2.11 Musical Instruments and Audio Equipment

Headphones and personal audio devices are permitted provided they are not audible to others at any time. Musical instruments, sound amplification devices, and speakers (including but not limited to portable speakers) may only be used with prior written approval from management and strictly within approved hours. Any approval granted may be limited, conditional, or withdrawn at any time at the discretion of management.

Any unauthorised use may be treated as a serious breach.

2.12 Management Assessment

Management's assessment of noise impact and household disruption is final.

3. Cleanliness, Hygiene and Maintenance

3.1 General Principle

The household operates under strict cleanliness and hygiene standards. Maintaining a clean, safe, and immediately usable environment is a condition of occupancy. Occupants are responsible for their own conduct and for ensuring shared areas are left clean after every use. Cleanliness is assessed based on outcome, not intent. If an area is left dirty, cluttered, unhygienic, or unusable, this constitutes a breach regardless of who was assigned or intended to clean it.

3.2 General Cleanliness Obligations

Occupants must:

- maintain a clean and hygienic environment at all times,
- clean immediately after themselves in all shared areas,
- remove personal belongings from shared spaces after use,
- ensure no food scraps, crumbs, residue, or rubbish are left behind.

Food crumbs are considered rubbish. Failure to remove rubbish, including crumbs, is considered unhygienic and a cleanliness breach.

Leaving rotting food, unwashed dishes, strong odours (including from cooking or personal neglect), or any condition that affects health, hygiene, or comfort may result in warnings, cleaning charges, non-renewal, or termination of occupancy.

3.3 Cleaning and Remediation Charges

Any cleaning, tidying, or removal charge applied under these Rules represents liquidated damages, being a genuine pre-estimate of the administrative, supervisory, and remediation costs incurred by management as a result of a breach.

These charges are capped at the stated amounts and represent the maximum recoverable allocation of reasonable administrative, supervision, and remediation costs incurred in managing non-compliance. Charges are applied only to the extent reasonably necessary and are not penalties.

These costs include, without limitation:

- (a) inspection and identification of the breach,
- (b) photographic evidence and documentation,
- (c) logging and record-keeping,
- (d) communication with the occupant,
- (e) coordination and supervision of remediation, and
- (f) verification that the issue has been resolved.

Charges are applied per breach occurrence, are avoidable by compliance, and are not fines or penalties. They reflect reasonable cost recovery where precise calculation at the time of breach is impractical due to the administrative and operational nature of the response. Repeated or ongoing breaches may result in escalation, including increased charges, formal notices, non-renewal, or termination in accordance with this Licence and the House Rules.

Charges reflect the minimum fixed administrative cost of documenting, communicating, and verifying the remediation of any single breach.

3.4 Waste and Rubbish Removal

All occupants share responsibility for waste management.

If a bin is full:

- the occupant who notices it must tie the bag and remove it to the outdoor bin,
- overflowing bins are not acceptable under any circumstances.

Failure to remove rubbish or repeated neglect constitutes a cleanliness breach and may result in cleaning charges or further action.

3.5 Kitchen Standards

After every use, occupants must:

- clean and sanitise benches, sinks, stovetops, and appliances,
- wash, dry, and store dishes immediately,
- remove food waste and packaging,
- leave the kitchen ready for immediate use by the next person.

A disinfectant spray must be kept available on the benchtop. If unsure how to prepare or use cleaning solutions, occupants must ask the house manager.

3.6 Refrigerators and Kitchen

Occupants are responsible for:

- cleaning their allocated storage areas, including fridges, dry storage, benchtops,
- removing expired or spoiled food promptly,

- preventing leaks, spills, or odours.

Management may remove any item that presents a hygiene risk without notice.

3.7 Bathrooms

Bathrooms must be left clean, dry, and immediately usable after each use.

Occupants must:

- wipe excess water from floors, mirrors, and surfaces,
- remove visible hair from drains, floors, and sinks,
- ensure the toilet bowl is clean after use, with no visible residue,
- use provided cleaning tools as required.

Leaving bathrooms wet, slippery, dirty, or unhygienic is a breach and may result in cleaning charges or further consequences.

3.8 Floors and Stairwells

Shared floors and stairwells must be kept clear and clean.

- Timber and tiled floors must not be damaged or cleaned with unapproved products.
- Carpets must be kept clean. Spills must be reported immediately. No products may be applied without approval from the house manager.
- Stairwells must remain free of personal belongings and hazards.

3.9 Cleaning Supplies

Cleaning supplies for daily maintenance are not provided.

Provided items include:

- brooms,
- mops,
- vacuum cleaners.

Cleaning products are a shared responsibility among occupants. Any occasional provision of products or professional cleaning is a courtesy and not an entitlement.

3.10 Maintenance Reporting

Any damage, fault, or maintenance issue must be reported promptly to the house manager using the designated communication method. Failure to report damage may result in liability for resulting costs.

3.11 Inspections and Management Access

Formal routine inspections for cleanliness or condition may be conducted from time to time. Notice for such formal inspections may be provided as a courtesy where practicable but is not mandatory, unless expressly stated otherwise.

While notice for formal inspections is a courtesy, it does not limit management's right of immediate, no-notice access under Clause 6.1 for any purpose.

3.12 Cleaning Organisation

Occupants may organise cleaning arrangements among themselves if they wish. Any arrangement must:

- ensure all areas are consistently maintained,
- be approved by the house manager,
- not result in areas being left dirty at any time.

Regardless of any internal arrangements, each occupant remains individually responsible for compliance with cleanliness standards.

3.13 Shoes Policy (Carpeted Areas)

Shoes must be removed before entering any carpeted area of the premises. This requirement applies at all times to occupants and their guests without exception.

Failure to comply with the shoes-off policy is considered a cleanliness breach and may result in cleaning charges, formal warnings, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

3.14 Management Assessment

Management's assessment of cleanliness, hygiene, safety, and usability of any area of the premises is final and may be conducted at any time.

Failure to comply with cleanliness standards, interference with assessments, obstruction of management actions, or attempting to dispute, undermine, or persuade other occupants that management decisions or house rules are unlawful or invalid may be treated as a serious breach and may result in immediate non-renewal or termination of the licence.

3.15 Pest Reporting and Control Authority

Occupants must promptly report any pest or insect activity observed in the premises to the house manager. Occupants must not attempt to independently enforce, organise, coordinate, or pressure pest control actions or any other actions, including but not limited to:

- engaging pest control services without approval,
- attempting self-treatment with chemicals or devices, except using commercial use sprays or gels,

- encouraging or mobilising other occupants to demand action,
- claiming urgency, illegality, or breach as a means to compel action,
- creating distress, conflict, or collective pressure within the household.

Assessment, timing, method, and necessity of pest control are determined solely at the discretion of the house manager, based on operational viability, safety, and household conditions.

Management may choose to monitor, delay, treat, or take no action depending on the circumstances. Occupants acknowledge that reporting does not create an obligation to act within any specific timeframe.

Interference with pest management decisions, attempts to undermine management authority, or efforts to influence other occupants against management may be treated as a serious breach and may result in non-renewal or termination of the licence.

4. Keys, fobs and Access Devices

Keys, fobs, and any access devices provided remain the property of management at all times.

Occupants are responsible for the safekeeping of all keys, fobs, and access devices issued to them. Lending, duplicating, modifying, or permitting unauthorised use of access devices is strictly prohibited, except authorised in writing by the house manager.

Loss of any access device will result in the following replacement charges, deducted from the security contribution or charged immediately:

- Lost key: $40 replacement fee

- Lost fob or electronic access device: $100 replacement fee

If loss of an access device creates a security risk, management may require lock replacement, access reprogramming, or other security measures. Any associated costs may be charged to the occupant responsible.

Failure to return keys or access devices upon vacating will be treated as a lost item and charged accordingly.

4.1 Designated sleeping space Door Lock and Optional Upgrade Policy

Some designated sleeping spaces are provided without a lockable door.

Where a designated sleeping space is provided without a door lock, occupancy of that designated sleeping space constitutes acceptance of the designated sleeping space in its existing condition.

If an occupant requests the installation of a lock on a designated sleeping space door, this may be approved at the discretion of management and is subject to a non-refundable charge of $80. This charge covers materials, installation, and administrative handling and is not a security contribution or bond.

The $80 charge is not refundable under any circumstances, including upon vacating the premises, early departure, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

Occupants are not permitted to install, modify, remove, replace, or interfere with door hardware, locks, or fittings themselves or through third parties. Any unauthorised modification constitutes a serious breach and may result in termination and liability for repair or reinstatement costs.

Any lock provided or installed on a door is for personal storage convenience only and does not confer exclusive possession, privacy rights, or the ability to exclude management. Management retains authority to access all areas, including any sleeping area, at any time in accordance with the Licence.

5. Personal Belongings, Shared Property, and Storage (Strict Policy)

5.1 General Principle

Personal belongings must be kept under control at all times. Shared areas are not personal storage spaces. Maintaining clear, safe, and usable common areas is a condition of occupancy.

Occupants must respect the personal belongings of others and must not use, borrow, consume, or interfere with any item belonging to another person without explicit permission.

5.2 Personal Belongings in Shared Areas

Personal belongings must not be left in shared or common areas at any time.

Shared areas include, without limitation: kitchens, living rooms, hallways, staircases, bathrooms, balconies, entrances, garages, and any communal space.

Personal belongings include, without limitation: bags (including delivery or courier bags), helmets, shoes, clothing, jackets, towels, glasses, bottles, cans (open or closed), food, cigarettes, lighters, personal equipment, accessories, electronics, cables, books, computers, documents, keys, supermarket bags, and any other personal property.

All personal belongings must be stored inside the occupant's designated sleeping area immediately after use.

Any personal belongings left in shared areas may be removed without notice and may be disposed of, relocated, or secured at management's discretion. Management accepts no responsibility for loss, damage, or disposal of items left in shared areas.

Each occurrence of personal belongings being left in shared areas constitutes a single breach of these Rules, regardless of the number of items involved.

After two documented breaches, a liquidated damages charge of $5 per breach occurrence may be applied and deducted from the security contribution, representing a genuine pre-estimate of the administrative and remediation costs incurred by management. Continued or repeated non-compliance may result in escalation, including increased charges, non-renewal, or termination of the Licence.

5.3 Use of Others' Belongings

Occupants must not use or borrow any personal belongings of others without explicit permission from the owner. This includes, but is not limited to, food, drinks, toiletries, personal care items, electronics, tools, and accessories.

5.4 Food Ownership and Storage

Occupants must obtain permission before consuming or using food belonging to others.

All personal food items must be clearly labelled with the occupant's name and stored appropriately. Food must be kept hygienic and within designated storage areas.

Shared or communal food items, if any, must be used responsibly and kept organised. Excessive use, depletion, or misuse is not permitted.

5.5 Bathroom and Personal Care Items

Use or borrowing of personal care items, including toiletries, cosmetics, grooming tools, or hygiene products belonging to others, is strictly prohibited without permission.

5.6 Electronics and Personal Equipment

Occupants must not use or handle personal electronic devices belonging to others without permission.

Personal electronic equipment may be used in shared areas only temporarily and must be packed away immediately after use.

Permanent setups in shared areas, including monitors, consoles, sound systems, or similar equipment, are not permitted without prior approval from management.

Repeated mess, misuse, or obstruction of shared areas may result in loss of permission to use personal equipment in common spaces.

5.7 House Belongings

House belongings, including cutlery, utensils, glasses, cookware, furniture, and appliances, are provided for use within the premises only.

House belongings must not be removed from the property under any circumstances. This includes taking items to workplaces, parks, barbecues, events, or any location outside the premises.

If house belongings are lost, damaged, or broken due to negligence or misuse, the responsible occupant must replace the item with the same or equivalent brand, quality, size, and type, as approved by management. If the exact item is unavailable, management will determine the replacement solution.

5.8 Entertainment Equipment in Shared Areas

Occupants using entertainment equipment in shared areas must keep all items tidy and returned to their original locations after use. This includes controllers, cables, remotes, discs, and accessories.

Leaving equipment spread across shared areas is considered clutter and a breach of these rules.

Permanent installations are not permitted without approval. Repeated breaches may result in loss of access to shared entertainment facilities.

5.8.1 Personal Video Games and Consoles on Shared TVs

Personal video game consoles and gaming devices may be connected to shared televisions on a temporary basis only.

Use is permitted solely during active gameplay and must not interfere with the reasonable use of the shared television by other occupants or their guests.

Immediately after use, all personal gaming devices must be fully powered off, disconnected, and removed from the shared area. Cables, controllers, accessories, and storage media must be packed away and returned to the occupant's designated sleeping area.

Personal gaming equipment must not remain connected, installed, or left in shared areas when not in active use. Permanent or semi-permanent setups are not permitted.

Failure to comply with this rule may result in removal of permission to use personal gaming devices on shared televisions, cleaning or clutter charges, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

5.9 Storage Restrictions

Occupants must not use shared areas, hallways, garages, or other common spaces for personal storage.

Temporary storage may only occur with specific, written, time-limited approval from management. Approval granted once does not imply ongoing or future permission.

5.10 Responsibility for Damage or Loss

Occupants are fully responsible for any loss, damage, or misuse of others' belongings or house property caused by their actions or negligence.

Any damage must be reported promptly to the affected party and to management.

5.11 Authority and Enforcement

Management's determination of what constitutes a personal belonging, shared area, clutter, misuse, or non-compliance is final.

Failure to comply with this section may result in cleaning charges, deductions from the security contribution, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

6. Management Access and Movement Authority

Management, the house manager, and any authorised representatives have full authority to enter, exit, access, and move throughout the premises, including all common areas, at any time and as often as required.

Management is not required to request permission, provide notice, or explain the purpose of access to any occupant.

Such access may occur for household operations, inspections, maintenance, administration, security, supervision, or any other management-related purpose.

Occupants acknowledge that management access does not constitute interference with occupancy and does not give rise to any right to object, complain, or seek compensation.

Common Areas and Shared Facilities (Permission-Based Use Only).

Management access rights extend to all parts of the premises, including any designated sleeping area, whether or not occupied, locked, or temporarily secured.

6.1 Nature of Common Area Use

All common areas and shared facilities are provided on a permission-to-use basis only.

Occupants do not rent, lease, own, or have any entitlement to common areas, shared spaces, furniture, appliances, or amenities. Access to these areas and items is a privilege granted by management and may be restricted, modified, or withdrawn at any time.

Permission to occupy a designated sleeping area does not confer any right to exclusive, guaranteed, or uninterrupted use of common areas.

6.2 No Right to Demand, Complain, or Enforce

Occupants do not have the right to demand repairs, upgrades, replacements, or uninterrupted availability of any common area, appliance, service or facility.

If an item, appliance, or facility is not working or unavailable, occupants must simply report the issue to management. Management will assess the issue and, at its sole discretion, determine whether, when, and how it will be addressed.

Delays, inconvenience, or dissatisfaction with the condition, availability, or timing of repairs do not constitute a breach by management and do not entitle occupants to compensation, fee reduction, or complaint.

6.3 Fair Use and Behaviour

While access is shared, occupants are expected to use common areas respectfully and reasonably, recognising that access is non-exclusive and subject to availability.

Management may prioritise, restrict, or allocate use of common areas as required to maintain household operations, safety, harmony, or management needs.

6.4 Cleanliness in Common Areas

Occupants must leave all common areas clean, tidy, and immediately usable after every use.

If an area is left dirty, cluttered, damaged, or unsafe, this constitutes a breach regardless of intent or duration.

Occupants are responsible for cleaning up after themselves immediately. Management is not required to remind, warn, or follow up.

6.5 Shoe Policy (Carpeted Areas)

Shoes must be removed before entering any carpeted common area. This applies to all occupants and their guests without exception.

Failure to comply is a cleanliness breach and may result in cleaning charges, non-renewal, or termination.

6.6 Furniture, Layout, and House Configuration

Occupants must not move, rearrange, remove, swap, or relocate any furniture, decorations, appliances, or household items without prior approval from management.

This includes, but is not limited to:

- moving couches, tables, or chairs between designated sleeping areas or levels,
- changing the layout of living or dining areas,
- relocating items into bedrooms or storage,
- using furniture or items from other designated sleeping areas.

Any temporary approval granted must be strictly followed, and all items must be returned to their original position immediately after use. Unauthorised changes may result in liability for damage, restoration costs, non-renewal, or termination.

6.7 Appliances and Equipment

Shared appliances and equipment must be used responsibly and strictly in accordance with management directions.

After use, all items must be:

- turned off,
- cleaned if necessary,
- returned to their original location.

Malfunctions must be reported to management. Occupants must not attempt repairs or modifications themselves.

6.8 High-Power Personal Appliances

Personal appliances with power consumption of 1.5 kW or higher (including portable heaters or air conditioners) are not included in the occupancy fee.

Use of such devices requires disclosure and will be charged separately at $0.40 per kWh.

Failure to disclose or unauthorised use may result in additional charges of $120 or termination of the licence.

6.9 Energy Use – Air Conditioning and Fans

Air-conditioning units and fans located in common areas must be turned off immediately when an occupant leaves the premises or when the area is no longer in use.

Leaving air-conditioning or fans operating while the premises are unattended or not actively in use is strictly prohibited.

Management may assess and calculate excessive or unauthorised energy usage based on observed patterns, timing, or reasonable estimation. If more than two incidents occur within a calendar month, the total estimated energy cost for that month may be charged and deducted from the occupant's security contribution at the end of the stay.

Management's assessment and calculation of energy usage is final.

6.10 Smoking, Vaping, and Substances

Smoking or vaping of any substance inside the property is strictly prohibited. This includes, without limitation, tobacco, e-cigarettes, vapes, cannabis (including prescribed medicinal cannabis), and any other smoked or vaporised substance.

This rule applies regardless of the legal status or prescription status of the substance. Any breach constitutes a serious violation of health, safety, and house standards and may result in immediate termination.

6.11 Hygiene and Sanitation in Common Areas

Urinating, ejaculating or defecating in gardens, yards, showers, or any common area is a serious breach.

Any occupant found engaging in such behaviour will be required to vacate immediately, and a portion of the security contribution may be retained to cover sanitation and cleaning costs.

6.12 Living with House Manager or Management Representatives

Where the house manager, their representatives, or their family reside at the premises, management may prioritise access to common areas for household operations, rest, or family needs.

Occupants are expected to remain flexible and cooperative. Alternative facilities may be made available at management's discretion.

6.13 Management Authority

Management's assessment of appropriate use, condition, availability, cleanliness, and allocation of common areas and shared facilities is final.

Failure to comply with this section may result in restrictions on access, cleaning charges, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

6.14 Dishwasher – Prohibited Use

The Use of the dishwasher at this premises is strictly prohibited.

The dishwasher is a non-serviceable fixture and is expressly excluded from the Service & Occupancy arrangement. Occupants acknowledge and agree that the occupancy fee is calculated on the basis that this appliance is not available for use, notwithstanding its physical presence in the kitchen.

Any use of the dishwasher constitutes a breach of these Rules and may result in charges, non-renewal, or termination.

7. Guest Policy (Strict Control and Liability)

7.1 General Principle

Guests are permitted only as a limited privilege, not a right. All guest access is conditional, temporary, and subject to management discretion at all times.

Occupants are fully and strictly responsible for the conduct, behaviour, location, and compliance of their guests. Any breach by a guest is treated as a breach by the occupant who invited them.

Management may restrict, suspend, or revoke guest privileges at any time without explanation.

7.2 Presence of Host Required

Guests are not permitted to be on the premises unless the hosting occupant is physically present at all times.

Guests must not enter, remain in, or access the property when the hosting occupant is not present, including use of balconies, kitchens, bathrooms, showers, or any common area.

Allowing guests to remain unattended or unsupervised is a serious breach.

7.3 Number of Guests

Outside quiet hours, a maximum of three guests per designated sleeping area is permitted at any one time.

During quiet hours, a maximum of one guest per designated sleeping area is permitted.

These limits apply strictly and include all visitors, regardless of duration.

7.4 Overnight Guests

Overnight guests are permitted on an occasional basis only, with a maximum of one overnight guest per designated sleeping area.

The same guest must not stay more than one night in a row. Repeated overnight stays by the same person may be treated as unauthorised occupancy or potential residency.

If the same guest stays again within a short period or displays patterns of repeated presence, management may require approval, charge an additional occupancy fee, or require the guest to cease attending.

7.5 Noise, Behaviour, and Conduct

Guests must strictly comply with all house rules, including quiet hours.

Noise disturbances, including loud talking, arguing, sex noises, music, or socialising during quiet hours, are not tolerated.

Guests must not disrupt, inconvenience, intimidate, or interfere with other occupants under any circumstances.

7.6 Smoking, Substances, and Balcony Use

Guests must comply with the property's zero-tolerance policy for smoking, vaping, and illicit substances inside the premises.

If smoking is permitted in designated outdoor areas, guests must comply strictly with all rules, including time, location, and disposal of cigarette butts.

Repeated smoking, lingering, socialising, or disruptive behaviour on balconies or outdoor areas by guests is not permitted.

Any breach related to smoking or substances is treated as a serious breach.

7.7 Use of Facilities by Guests

Guests may not use kitchens, cooking facilities, showers, bathrooms, laundry facilities, or appliances unless expressly permitted by management.

Guests are not entitled to shared facilities and must not behave as occupants.

Any unauthorised use of facilities by guests constitutes a breach by the hosting occupant.

7.8 Responsibility and Liability

The hosting occupant is fully responsible for:

- guest behaviour,
- any damage, mess, or hygiene issues,
- noise complaints,
- breaches of house rules,
- any complaints raised by other occupants.

Costs arising from guest-related breaches, cleaning, damage, or disturbances may be charged to the occupant's security contribution.

7.9 Management Authority

Management may require any guest to leave immediately, without warning or explanation.

Management may also require the hosting occupant to vacate as a result of guest behaviour, either immediately or at the end of the current licence period.

Management's assessment of guest compliance, disruption, or suitability is final.

Guest privileges may be withdrawn permanently for any occupant without further notice.

8. Pets, Animals, Insects, and Plants

8.1 No Pets, Animals, or Insects

Pets of any kind are not permitted at the premises.

This includes, but is not limited to:

- animals,
- birds,
- reptiles,

- fish,
- insects,
- arachnids,
- rodents,
- any other living creatures kept for companionship, breeding, display, or care.

This prohibition applies at all times to occupants and their guests, whether temporarily or permanently, and regardless of size, species, containment, or duration of stay.

8.2 No Temporary or Visiting Animals

Animals are not permitted to visit the premises, including for short periods, pet-sitting, or casual visits.

The presence of any unauthorised animal, even temporarily, constitutes a breach of this policy.

8.3 Plants and Plant Permission

Occupants may keep plants within the premises only with prior approval from the house manager.

Approval may be granted, limited, or withdrawn at any time at management's discretion.

Occupants are fully responsible for the care and maintenance of any approved plants, including watering, cleanliness, pest prevention, and ensuring plants do not:

- cause damage to floors, walls, furniture, or fixtures,
- create mess, mould, or odours,
- attract insects or pests,
- interfere with shared spaces or other occupants.

8.4 Compliance and Enforcement

Strict compliance with this section is required.

Any breach of the no-pets policy may result in immediate removal of the animal, cleaning or pest control charges, deductions from the security contribution, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

Management's determination of what constitutes a pet, animal, insect, or breach of this policy is final.

9. Utilities Usage (Strict Control and Cost Recovery)

9.1 General Principle

Utilities are provided as a shared service and are included in the occupancy fee only when used reasonably and in accordance with these rules.

Occupants do not have unlimited or unrestricted entitlement to utilities. Excessive, wasteful, or unauthorised usage may result in charges, deductions from the security contribution, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

9.2 Electricity – Mandatory Shutdown

All lights, air-conditioning units, fans, and electrical appliances must be turned off immediately when:

- leaving the premises,
- leaving a designated sleeping area or common area unattended,
- going to sleep, except in the occupant's designated sleeping area while sleeping.

Leaving air-conditioning or fans operating while the premises or area is unattended or not actively in use is strictly prohibited.

Management may identify excessive or unauthorised electricity usage based on observation, reasonable estimation, usage patterns, or utility data.

If more than two incidents of non-compliance occur within a calendar month, the total estimated excess electricity cost for that month may be calculated by management and deducted from the occupant's security contribution at the end of the stay.

Management's calculation and assessment of electricity usage is final.

9.3 High Consumption Devices

Personal appliances with high energy consumption, including heaters, portable air conditioners, or similar devices, are not included in the occupancy fee unless expressly approved.

Unauthorised use may result in additional charges or termination.

9.4 Washing Machine Usage – Time Restriction

Use of the washing machine must be reasonable and limited.

Washing cycles exceeding one hour in duration, repeated excessive use, or use inconsistent with normal domestic laundry needs are not permitted.

Running multiple consecutive cycles, prolonged programs, or treating the premises as a personal laundry facility is considered misuse of utilities.

Management may assess excessive washing machine usage based on observed patterns, timing, frequency, or reasonable estimation. Excess usage may be charged, deducted from the security contribution, or treated as a breach.

9.5 Dishwasher

Use of the dishwasher is not permitted at this premises.

The presence of a dishwasher does not imply permission to use it. Any use constitutes a breach.

9.6 Water Usage

Occupants must use water responsibly. Excessively long showers, leaving taps running unnecessarily, multiple uses of bath, or wasteful water use is not permitted. Management may take action where patterns of excessive usage are identified.

9.7 Shared Bathrooms

Bathrooms are shared facilities. Occupants must:

- avoid excessive occupancy time,
- ensure reasonable access for others,
- avoid behaviours that create queues or prevent use during peak times.

9.8 Shared Utility Bills and Excess Charges

Standard utilities (electricity, gas, water, and internet) are included in the occupancy fee up to normal household usage.

Any excess usage beyond standard levels may be shared equally among occupants, regardless of individual usage patterns.

Designated sleeping area without air-conditioning will contribute 25% less toward excess electricity charges only. The remaining 25% portion will be redistributed among designated sleeping areas with air-conditioning.

Excess charges must be paid within 10 days of notice.

9.9 Internet Usage

Internet access is provided for normal personal use only.

The following activities are strictly prohibited:

- bandwidth sharing,
- commercial use,
- crypto mining,
- server hosting,
- activities that disrupt or degrade connection quality for others.

Management may restrict access, apply charges, or terminate occupancy for misuse.

9.10 Authority and Enforcement

Management's assessment of utility usage, excess consumption, misuse, and cost allocation is final.

Failure to comply with this section may result in charges, deductions from the security contribution, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

10. Appliance Use and Operating Rules

10.1 General Principle

All appliances are provided for shared use under strict operating conditions. Appliances must be used efficiently, correctly, and respectfully. Misuse, excessive usage, or failure to follow these rules may result in charges, deductions from the security contribution, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

10.2 Laundry - Washing Machine

Use of the washing machine must be reasonable and efficient.

Where available, fast or eco-friendly programs must be used. Long, heavy, or extended cycles are not permitted unless strictly necessary for hygiene reasons.

Powder detergent must be placed directly into the clothes, not into the detergent compartment.

Before washing, occupants must ensure all pockets are empty and free of debris. Any rubbish or items that fall onto the floor or machine must be picked up and disposed of immediately. Leaving debris on the floor or on top of the washing machine is a cleanliness breach.

Any spills, residue, or mess inside or around the washing machine must be cleaned immediately after use.

10.3 Drying Machines

Drying machines are not permitted at the premises unless expressly approved by the house manager.

Where there is written a charge of $5 per load in the machine, a charge of $5 per load applies.

Approval of use may be withdrawn at any time.

10.4 Dishwasher

Use of the dishwasher is not permitted at this premises.

The presence of a dishwasher does not imply permission to use it. Any use constitutes a breach.

10.5 Stove and Oven Use

When using the stove or oven, occupants must:

- use appropriately sized burners,
- adjust heat levels efficiently,
- use lids on pots and pans where applicable,
- avoid unnecessary preheating.

Ovens must only be preheated when required and for the minimum time necessary.

Stoves and ovens must be turned off immediately after use. Heating appliances must not be left on unnecessarily or unattended.

10.6 Smoke Alarm Activation

If a smoke alarm is activated due to cooking or oven use and there is no actual fire risk, occupants must:

- turn off the appliance,
- ventilate the area safely using a towel or airflow,
- act calmly and responsibly.

If there is any real risk of fire, occupants must immediately evacuate the premises safely and notify the house manager so emergency services can be contacted.

Negligent or repeated activation of smoke alarms due to misuse of appliances may result in charges or further action.

10.7 Other Appliances

All other appliances and devices must be turned off immediately after use.

Any spills, mess, or residue caused by appliance use must be cleaned promptly, and appliances must be returned to their original condition and location.

10.8 Barbecue and Open-Heat Equipment

Use of barbecues, grills, or any open-heat cooking equipment at the premises is permitted only with prior approval from the house manager. Approval, if granted, may be limited, conditional, or withdrawn at any time. Any occupant who brings or uses a barbecue or similar equipment is fully responsible for its placement, supervision, operation, and safety at all times.

The occupant is fully liable for any damage, fire risk, or harm caused by the use of such equipment, including but not limited to damage to: - floors, walls, furniture, grass, gardens, structures, appliances, other people or any other property or belongings.

The barbecue must be used only in the approved location and in accordance with management directions. It must never be left unattended and must be fully extinguished and cooled before being stored or removed.

Unauthorised use, unsafe operation, or any damage resulting from barbecue use may result in immediate termination of the licence, liability for repair or replacement costs, and deductions from the security contribution.

10.9 Authority and Enforcement

Management's assessment of appliance misuse, inefficiency, or non-compliance is final.

Failure to comply with this section may result in charges, deductions from the security contribution, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

11. Security, Safety, and Privacy (Strict Compliance)

11.1 General Principle

Security, safety, and privacy are critical to the operation of the household. Compliance with this section is a condition of occupancy.

Failure to comply may result in non-renewal or termination of the licence.

11.2 Security Measures – Doors and Windows

Occupants must ensure that all external doors and accessible windows are securely closed and locked:

- when leaving the premises, and
- when going to sleep.

Failure to secure the premises is considered a security breach.

11.3 Suspicious Activity and Security Concerns

Any suspicious activity, attempted access, or potential security breach must be reported immediately to the house manager.

Occupants must not engage in further conversation, provide information, or attempt to resolve the situation themselves.

If a situation appears to involve criminal activity or immediate risk, the house manager must be contacted immediately so the appropriate authorities can be notified.

11.4 Basic Safety Practices

Occupants must follow basic safety practices at all times, including but not limited to:

- never leaving cooking unattended,
- remaining present and alert while using stoves, ovens, or open heat sources,
- promptly addressing hazards that may cause fire, injury, or damage.

Emergency exits, stairwells, hallways, and access paths must be kept clear at all times. Obstructing exits or escape routes is a serious safety breach.

11.5 Privacy and Confidentiality (Very Important)

Occupants must not disclose any information relating to:

- the house,
- management,
- other occupants,
- occupancy arrangements,
- security measures,
- internal operations.

This includes, but is not limited to, discussions with:

- neighbours,
- passers-by,
- strangers,
- individuals claiming to be property owners, real estate agents, inspectors, or authorities.

Occupants must not answer questions, provide explanations, or engage in discussion. Any such approach must be reported immediately to the house manager.

11.6 Verification and External Enquiries

Occupants are not authorised to verify, confirm, deny, or discuss any matters relating to the property.

All external enquiries must be referred directly to the house manager. Occupants must not attempt to validate identities, negotiate, or provide assurances on behalf of management.

11.7 Prohibited Activities

The following activities are strictly prohibited at the premises:

- use or possession of illicit drugs,
- hosting or conducting commercial activities (including but not limited to massage services, sex work, or product sales),
- possession of weapons or dangerous items,
- organising gatherings, parties, or events without prior written approval from the house manager.

11.8 External Enquiries, Authority Claims, and Verification (Strict Rule)

Occupants must not provide any information about the house, the house manager, management arrangements, or any occupant to any external person under any circumstances.

This prohibition applies to all individuals, including but not limited to:

- people claiming to be owners, landlords, managers, or representatives,
- real estate agents or property managers,
- government officers or agencies,
- technicians, contractors, or service providers,
- neighbours, passers-by, or members of the public.

No information is to be disclosed unless the person is a uniformed police officer acting in an official capacity.

If approached by any person requesting information or claiming authority, occupants must:

- refuse to provide any information,
- avoid engaging in discussion,
- collect the person's contact details only (if safe to do so),
- immediately forward those details to the house manager.

Occupants must never confirm or deny who lives in the house, how the house operates, who manages it, or any internal arrangements.

Any person seeking access to the premises must be formally presented by the house manager. If a person arrives without prior presentation or confirmation, occupants must contact the house manager immediately to verify whether access is authorised.

Allowing entry, providing access, or sharing information without verification is a serious breach.

11.9 Enforcement

Any breach of this section may result in immediate termination of the licence, requirement to vacate, and retention of part or all of the security contribution.

Engaging in discussions about the house with external parties is considered a privacy breach regardless of intent.

Management's assessment of security, safety, privacy risks, and breaches is final.

12. After-Hours Access Assistance and Emergency Call-Out Fees

After-hours assistance is strictly limited and subject to fees.

After-hours is defined as any time between 10:00 pm and 7:00 am, on any day of the week.

If an occupant requests assistance after hours for access-related issues, including but not limited to being locked out or unable to access the premises, the following fees apply:

- Door opening / access assistance: $50
- Additional charge if keys are missing: $40
- Additional charge if a fob or electronic access device is missing: $100

Attendance and response time are subject to the house manager's availability and schedule. Immediate response is not guaranteed.

Once an after-hours call-out has been initiated and the house manager or authorised representative has departed to attend the property, a cancellation fee of $25 applies, even if access is later obtained by other means.

If any door, lock, frame, or access point shows signs of forced entry, damage, or tampering, a fixed charge of $250 will be deducted from the security contribution to cover inspection, security, and repair costs. Further damage may be charged separately if applicable.

All after-hours charges may be deducted from the security contribution or charged immediately.

13. Damage to Property – Fixed Charges and Liability

Occupants are fully responsible for any damage caused by themselves or their guests, whether intentional or accidental.

The following fixed charges apply for common types of damage. These amounts represent minimum charges and do not limit management's right to recover higher costs where applicable.

Walls:

- Wall damage or breakage up to 25 cm: $250
- Wall damage exceeding 25 cm: cost to be quoted

Holes:

- Holes in walls or surfaces up to 7 cm: $150
- Holes exceeding 7 cm: cost to be quoted

Paint:

- Spot paint damage, marking, or staining: $100
- Bigger spot: cost to be quoted

Carpet:

- Carpet damage up to 7 cm: $150
- Carpet damage up to 15 cm: $250
- Carpet damage exceeding 15 cm: cost to be quoted

Hard Flooring:

- Hard floor damage up to 10 cm: $250
- Hard floor damage from 10 cm to 20 cm: $350
- Hard floor damage exceeding 20 cm: cost to be quoted

Tiles:

- Any tile damage: cost to be quoted

Furniture and Fixtures:

- Glass items: cost to be quoted
- Couches or upholstered furniture: cost to be quoted
- Other household objects or fixtures: cost to be quoted
- Televisions or screens: cost to be quoted

All damage charges may be deducted from the security contribution. Where repair or replacement costs exceed the security contribution, the occupant remains liable for the balance.

Management's assessment of damage, measurements, and applicable charges is final.

Attempting to dispute, minimise, or redirect responsibility for charges does not suspend enforcement.

14.1. Liquidated Damages and Cost Recovery

Any fixed charges listed in these House Rules for cleaning, hygiene breaches, damage, or misuse of common areas are liquidated damages, being a genuine pre-estimate of the administrative, labour, supervision, and operational costs incurred to identify, address, document, and remediate the breach.

These amounts are not penalties or fines, but represent reasonable cost recovery where precise calculation at the time of breach is impractical. Management may apply these charges without further proof of actual expenditure.

Management may, at its discretion, apply higher actual costs where damage or cleaning exceeds the fixed amounts listed.

14. Parking and Vehicle Storage (Permission-Based Use Only)

14.1 General Principle

Any parking or vehicle storage at the premises is provided on a permission-to-use basis only. Parking is not included as a guaranteed feature of occupancy and does not form part of any lease, tenancy, or exclusive right. Management may allocate, restrict, modify, or withdraw parking permissions at any time.

14.2 Resident Parking

Where parking spaces are available, they are not permanently assigned to any occupant.

Occupants may arrange parking among themselves on a temporary or rotating basis, provided this does not create conflict, obstruction, or operational issues. Management is not responsible for mediating parking arrangements between occupants.

Occupants must ensure that vehicles do not block access, driveways, pathways, garages, bins, or other vehicles. Any vehicle causing obstruction must be moved immediately upon request.

Unauthorised, obstructive, or inconsiderate parking may result in loss of parking permission, warnings, or further action.

14.3 Visitor Parking

Visitors may park temporarily only where permitted and only if spaces are available.

Visitor parking is subject to all house rules and must not block access or inconvenience others. Occupants are fully responsible for their visitors' parking behaviour.

Management may restrict or prohibit visitor parking at any time.

14.4 Motorbikes and Bicycles

Motorbikes and bicycles may be stored only in areas designated by management.

Use of designated motorbike or bicycle areas is provided without charge unless otherwise stated. Storage is conditional and may be withdrawn at any time.

Vehicles must not be stored in hallways, common areas, entrances, or any location not expressly approved.

14.5 Prohibited Parking and Enforcement

Parking is not permitted:

- on lawns, gardens, or landscaped areas,
- in unauthorised spaces,
- in a manner that blocks access or creates safety risks.

Except if the manager authorises in writing with a period of time.

Management may require any vehicle to be moved immediately. Failure to comply may result in loss of parking permission, towing at the owner's expense, non-renewal, or termination of the licence.

14.6 No Liability

Management is not responsible for damage, theft, vandalism, or loss involving any vehicle parked or stored at the premises.

14.7 Street Parking – Occupant Responsibility

Any parking on public streets or outside the premises is entirely at the occupant's own risk and responsibility.

This applies regardless of whether street parking has been suggested, discussed, or verbally permitted by any person, including the house manager, other occupants, neighbours, or third parties.

Occupants are solely responsible for:

- obtaining and complying with any permits,
- payment of parking fees,
- compliance with local parking regulations,
- fines, infringements, or penalties,
- vehicle safety, damage, or theft.

Management makes no representations or guarantees regarding the legality, availability, safety, or suitability of street parking.

Any issues arising from street parking do not constitute a responsibility, breach, or liability of management.

14.7 Authority

Management's assessment of parking availability, suitability, obstruction, and compliance is final.

Repeated parking breaches may result in permanent loss of parking permission.

15. Communication, Conduct, and Conflict Handling (Management-Controlled)

15.1 General Principle

Communication within the household must remain orderly, respectful, and aligned with management direction. Occupancy does not grant rights to collective decision-making, enforcement, or dispute resolution outside management control.

Failure to comply with this section may result in non-renewal or termination of the licence.

15.2 Mandatory Communication Channel

All occupants must remain active members of the designated house WhatsApp group for the duration of their occupancy.

This group is the primary channel for:

- official announcements,
- inspections,

- maintenance notices,
- operational updates,
- rule enforcement.

Leaving the group, muting essential communications, or refusing to engage is not permitted.

15.3 Group Conduct

The WhatsApp group is not a discussion forum, complaint board, or negotiation platform.

The following behaviour is strictly prohibited:

- rudeness, harassment, bullying, or intimidation,
- spamming, excessive messaging, or off-topic discussions,
- arguing with management decisions,
- encouraging others to challenge or resist house rules,
- creating group pressure, alliances, or collective complaints.

Any prohibited behaviour may result in removal from the group and may be treated as a serious breach leading to non-renewal or termination.

15.4 Interpersonal Issues

Occupants are expected to behave civilly and respectfully toward others at all times.

Occupants may attempt to resolve minor interpersonal issues privately if they choose. However, occupants are not required to confront others, and management does not mandate peer-to-peer resolution.

Harassment, verbal abuse, threats, intimidation, or hostile behaviour are not tolerated under any circumstances.

15.5 Management Handling of Conflicts

Management is not obligated to mediate disputes, facilitate discussions, or organise conflict-resolution meetings.

If management chooses to intervene, it will do so at its sole discretion and in a manner it considers appropriate.

Management may:

- issue directions,
- separate parties,
- impose restrictions,
- determine incompatibility,
- require one or more occupants to vacate.

15.6 House Meetings

House meetings are not automatic and are not initiated by majority vote.

Any meeting may occur only if initiated and approved by the house manager. Attendance, format, and outcomes are determined solely by management.

Management may consider input from occupants but is not bound by majority opinion, group consensus, or collective requests.

15.7 Confidentiality

Any communication with management, including complaints, reports, or discussions, is confidential.

Occupants must not share, summarise, reinterpret, or circulate management communications, decisions, or private matters with other occupants.

Breach of confidentiality is treated as a serious breach.

15.8 Zero Tolerance Conduct

Disrespectful behaviour, aggressive arguments, physical confrontation, threats, or any form of violence are strictly prohibited.

Any such conduct may result in immediate termination of the licence.

16. House Meetings (Management-Led and Non-Binding)

16.1 Purpose of House Meetings

House meetings, if held, exist solely as a management tool to communicate information, address operational matters, or issue guidance.

House meetings are not a forum for collective decision-making, voting, rule creation, or negotiation of management authority.

16.2 Initiation and Attendance

House meetings may only be initiated, scheduled, or approved by the house manager.

Attendance may be mandatory or optional at management's discretion. Management may limit attendance to specific occupants if required.

Occupants have no right to demand, vote for, or compel a house meeting.

16.3 Conduct During Meetings

Occupants must behave respectfully and calmly at all times.

The following are strictly prohibited during meetings:

- interruptions,
- personal attacks,
- confrontational or aggressive language,
- raising unrelated grievances,
- attempting to rally or pressure other occupants.

Failure to comply may result in removal from the meeting and may constitute a breach of house rules.

16.4 Role of Management

The house manager controls:

- the agenda,
- speaking order,
- duration,
- scope of discussion,
- and conclusions.

Management may appoint a representative or mediator if it chooses, but is not required to do so.

Management may limit discussion, end the meeting, or issue directions at any time.

16.5 No Voting or Consensus Rights

House meetings do not create voting rights, consensus obligations, or binding outcomes.

Any opinions expressed by occupants are non-binding and may be considered or disregarded entirely at management's discretion.

No rule, arrangement, or expectation discussed in a meeting is valid unless confirmed in writing by management.

16.6 Outcomes and Follow-Up

Management may issue instructions, guidance, or decisions following a house meeting.

Occupants are required to comply with any management directions regardless of agreement or disagreement.

Management is not required to justify decisions, implement suggestions, or provide follow-up explanations.

16.7 Confidentiality

All matters discussed during house meetings are confidential.

Occupants must not:

- summarise discussions to others,
- reinterpret management statements,
- circulate messages, recordings, or opinions from meetings.

Breach of confidentiality is treated as a serious breach.

16.8 Enforcement

Failure to comply with this section, including attempts to use meetings to undermine management authority or organise collective action, may result in non-renewal or termination of the licence.

17. Mandatory Routine Inspections and Management Instructions (Highest Priority Rule)

17.1 Absolute Authority of Management Instructions

Instructions issued by the house manager via WhatsApp or any designated communication channel are mandatory and must be followed exactly, without delay, discussion, or modification.

This rule has priority over all other house rules. Failure to comply with management instructions under this section constitutes a serious breach and may result in immediate termination or non-renewal of the licence.

17.2 Mandatory Vacating During Inspections

When instructed by the house manager, all occupants must vacate the premises for scheduled inspections or access requirements.

Occupants must leave the property by the exact date and time communicated by the house manager and must not return until authorised to do so.

No explanations, objections, availability constraints, or alternative proposals will be accepted.

17.3 Property Presentation

Prior to inspections or access events, occupants must ensure that:

- all common areas are clean, tidy, and uncluttered,
- all personal items not intended for display are removed from view,

- surfaces are clean and presentable,
- the property presents as orderly and well-maintained.

Failure to meet presentation standards is treated as non-compliance with management instructions.

17.4 Designated Sleeping Area Preparation

Occupants must prepare their individual designated sleeping area exactly as instructed by the house manager, including but not limited to:

- making beds,
- storing clothing properly,
- removing items from floors and visible surfaces,
- ensuring designated sleeping areas are clean, organised, and presentable.

Only essential items may remain visible. Anything deemed excessive, cluttered, or inappropriate must be removed.

17.5 No Discussion or Negotiation

Instructions issued under this section are not subject to discussion, negotiation, delay, or interpretation.

Any attempt to ignore, delay, partially comply, challenge, or reinterpret instructions is treated as refusal to comply.

17.6 Enforcement

Failure to comply with any instruction under this section may result in:

- immediate termination or non-renewal of the licence,
- deductions from the security contribution for cleaning or preparation,
- requirement to vacate the premises.

Management's assessment of compliance is final.

18. Designated sleeping space Showings and Prospective Occupant Inspections (Mandatory Compliance)

18.1 Purpose

Designated sleeping space showings and inspections for prospective occupants are an essential part of household operations. Occupants acknowledge that designated sleeping spaces may need to be shown to prospective occupants regardless of whether the designated sleeping space is currently occupied or approaching vacancy.

18.2 Mandatory Compliance

Occupants must comply with all instructions issued by the house manager regarding designated sleeping space showings, including:

- dates and times of showings,
- whether the designated sleeping space must be vacant or temporarily vacated,
- preparation or presentation requirements.

Reasonable notice will generally be provided where practicable. However, lack of prior notice does not invalidate a showing and does not grant the occupant the right to refuse access, delay, or impose conditions.

18.3 Duration and Frequency

The duration, frequency, and timing of designated sleeping space showings are determined solely at the discretion of the house manager. Occupants have no right to limit the number, length, or timing of showings.

18.4 No Obstruction or Conditions

Occupants must not:

- impede, delay, obstruct, or interfere with designated sleeping space showings,
- refuse access to their designated sleeping space or common areas,
- demand compensation, rent reductions, or concessions,
- impose conditions on access or behaviour,
- argue, debate, or challenge the necessity or timing of a showing.

Any attempt to obstruct or interfere with a showing constitutes a serious breach.

18.5 Opportunistic Showings

If, during a scheduled visit or showing, the house manager determines that another designated sleeping space may be suitable for a prospective occupant, the house manager may request access to that designated sleeping space at that time.

Occupants must comply with such requests without dispute, argument, or expectation of compensation, even if the designated sleeping space is still occupied or the showing was not specifically scheduled in advance.

18.6 Conduct During Showings

Occupants must behave respectfully and cooperatively during showings and must not

- make negative comments,
- provide misleading information,
- interfere with discussions,
- discourage prospective occupants.

Communication with prospective occupants is the responsibility of /ENTITY REMOVED/ of the house manager only.

18.7 Enforcement

Failure to comply with this section, including refusal, obstruction, or dispute, may result in:

- non-renewal of the licence,
- immediate termination,
- deductions from the security contribution for any operational loss.

Management's assessment of compliance is final.

19. Termination, Vacating, and Security Contribution (Strict Conditions)

19.1 General Principle

Occupancy ends only in accordance with this section. Security contribution recovery is conditional upon full compliance with vacating, cleanliness, and notice requirements.

Failure to comply with any part of this section may result in partial or full retention of the security contribution.

19.1.1 Supremacy and Minimum Term

Where termination, non-renewal, or vacating occurs for any reason, the minimum occupancy obligations set out in the Private Occupancy Licence continue to apply unless expressly waived in writing by the house manager.

19.2 Mandatory Notice Period

Occupants must provide a minimum of fourteen (14) days' notice to vacate, calculated from the next payment date.

Failure to provide the required notice, or leaving before completion of the initial fixed licence term, may result in loss of the security contribution.

19.3 Mandatory Vacating Standards (Personal Responsibility)

Upon vacating, occupants must leave the premises and all areas they used in a clean, empty, and immediately usable condition.

THIS IS INDEPENDENT OF THE CONDITION YOU FOUND IN THE INITIAL STAYING PERIOD!

This includes, without limitation:

Designated sleeping space:

- walls wiped free of marks,
- window frames dusted,
- windows cleaned,
- tables and surfaces wiped,
- mattress cover washed if applicable,
- floor vacuumed, including under the bed,
- drawers and wardrobes emptied and cleaned,
- keys left inside the designated sleeping space with the door open.

Fridge:

- allocated drawers emptied and cleaned,
- no food left behind,
- nothing left on benches or "for others to take".

Kitchen:

- cabinets used by the occupant wiped clean,
- benches and tables free of crumbs, dust, grease, or residue.

Bathroom:

- tiles sprayed with mould cleaner and scrubbed,
- glass scrubbed,
- toilet seat wiped and toilet bowl cleaned.

Dry Storage / Pantry:

- shelves wiped,
- all personal items removed.

Laundry:

- detergent storage areas wiped,
- all personal items removed.

Storage Areas:

- all personal belongings removed.
 - unwanted furniture may only be left with prior approval from the house manager.
- Anything left behind without approval may be discarded and charged.

19.4 Fixed Exit Cleaning Charges (Automatic)

If any of the following are not completed to a satisfactory standard, the following automatic charges apply:

- Restoration of the designated sleeping area to operational household standard (including dust, hair, under bed, fans, surfaces, or personal items left): $50
- Fridge not cleaned and emptied: $50
- Dry storage / pantry not cleaned: $50
- Bathroom and/or shower not cleaned: $30

These charges are cumulative and may be deducted from the security contribution without further notice.

Management's assessment of cleanliness is final.

These requirements relate to operational reset of shared accommodation and do not reflect tenancy or bond obligations.

19.4.1 Liquidated Damages and Cost Recovery

Any fixed charges listed in these House Rules for cleaning, hygiene breaches, damage, or misuse of common areas are liquidated damages, being a genuine pre-estimate of the administrative, labour, supervision, and operational costs incurred to identify, address, document, and remediate the breach.

These amounts are not penalties or fines, but represent reasonable cost recovery where precise calculation at the time of breach is impractical. Management may apply these charges without further proof of actual expenditure.

19.5 Mandatory End-of-House Bond Cleaning Contribution ($70)

A mandatory amount of $70 per occupant is retained from the security contribution for future full-house bond cleaning when the master lease or house contract ends.

This contribution:

- applies to every occupant who lives in the house, regardless of length of stay,
- is not related to the condition of the designated sleeping space upon arrival or departure,
- is not refundable under any circumstances,
- is not a personal bond for the occupant's designated sleeping space.

This contribution exists to fund a professional, whole-house bond clean required at the end of the property's master agreement, not to address individual designated sleeping space cleanliness.

Disputes regarding the initial condition of the designated sleeping space are not relevant to this contribution.

19.6 Early Termination and Replacement

Occupants may leave before completing the initial fixed licence term only if they find a suitable replacement approved by the house manager.

The replacement must:

- be of a similar age group,
- be the same gender (where applicable),
- agree to the same designated sleeping space rate,
- commit to a new initial fixed licence term.

Approval is at the sole discretion of the house manager.

If no approved replacement is found, the departing occupant remains liable for occupancy fees until a new occupant enters, or the security contribution may be retained to cover vacancy.

19.7 Shared Designated sleeping space Responsibility

Where occupants share a designated sleeping space and one occupant leaves, the remaining occupant is responsible for:

- finding a replacement, or
- vacating the designated sleeping space, or
- paying the single occupancy rate if approved by management.

Failure to complete the initial fixed licence term may result in loss of the security contribution.

19.8 Initial Designated sleeping space Condition and Courtesy Rule

Occupants acknowledge that designated sleeping spaces are provided in a functional condition and that minor imperfections, wear, or residual marks may exist from previous occupancy.

The initial condition of the designated sleeping space does not reduce, offset, or cancel:

- exit cleaning obligations,
- cleaning charges,
- the mandatory $70 end-of-house bond cleaning contribution.

Each occupant is responsible for leaving the designated sleeping space clean at the end of their stay, regardless of how it was received.

19.9 Acceptance and Finality

Payment of the security contribution constitutes full acceptance of all conditions in this section.

Once paid, the security contribution is non-reversible and non-refundable, even if the occupant chooses not to move in.

19.10 No Induced Non-Renewal

Occupants may not request, induce, engineer, or rely upon non-renewal of a weekly licence as a method of avoiding the minimum occupancy period or associated financial obligations.

20. Payments, Occupancy Fees, and Final Financial Conditions

20.1 Occupancy Fee Determination

The occupancy fee is determined based on factors including, but not limited to:

- designated sleeping space size,
- location within the house,
- amenities provided (e.g. air-conditioning),
- position of the designated sleeping space to the rest of the house and amenities,
- furnishings and inclusions.

The specific occupancy fee for each designated sleeping space is communicated by the house manager in the invitation or approval to join the household. Verbal or written confirmation by the house manager is binding.

20.2 Travel, Absence, and Payment Obligations

Temporary absence due to travel, holidays, or personal reasons does not exempt the occupant from payment of the occupancy fee.

The full occupancy fee remains payable regardless of physical presence.

Occupants may propose a temporary replacement during their absence; however:

- the replacement must be approved by the house manager,
- the replacement must agree to all house rules and fees.

Without an approved replacement, the occupancy fee remains fully payable.

20.3 Security Contribution Payment and Reservation

The security contribution must be paid on or before the agreed date communicated by the house manager.

Payment of the security contribution:

- confirms the designated sleeping space reservation,
- confirms the agreed start date,
- activates the occupancy fee obligation.

If the security contribution is not received by the agreed date:

- the start date is not honoured,
- the designated sleeping space is not held,
- the space may be offered to another person without notice.

20.4 Initial Fixed Licence Term and Weekly Renewal Structure

Occupancy operates on a weekly licence cycle for payment and administrative purposes only.

Notwithstanding the weekly cycle, all occupants commit to a minimum service commitment period of four (4) months from the commencement date, reflecting onboarding, operational, and vacancy risk costs.

Weekly continuation of occupancy after commencement is subject to management approval, is not automatic, and creates no entitlement or guarantee beyond each individual weekly period.

Approval is assessed on a weekly basis. Silence or lack of communication from management constitutes approval for that specific weekly period only and does not constitute an ongoing or future commitment, entitlement, or automatic renewal.

The weekly cycle does not create a casual, short-term, or flexible arrangement and does not grant the occupant the right to terminate occupancy before completion of the four-month minimum period.

If occupancy begins on a day other than Sunday, the minimum service commitment period is calculated from the following Sunday until the Saturday four months later.

Non-renewal or early termination by management does not waive the minimum four-month occupancy obligation unless expressly stated in writing by the house manager.

Management retains the right to terminate occupancy for breach at any time, independent of the minimum occupancy period, with financial consequences determined under this agreement.

Failure to complete the initial fixed licence term may result in partial or full loss of the security contribution and continued liability for occupancy fees until a replacement is approved by management or the minimum period is otherwise satisfied.

20.5 Subdivision of Final Week

The final week cannot be subdivided unless expressly authorised by the house manager.

If subdivision is authorised, the week is calculated as five (5) billable days, not seven (7), and multiplied by the number of days the occupant remained in the house.

20.6 Termination and Notice

To terminate occupancy, occupants must provide a minimum of fourteen (14) days' notice, calculated from the next payment date.

Termination is effective only after:

- completion of the initial fixed licence term (where applicable), and
- completion of the notice period.

Payment of the security contribution constitutes acceptance of all terms in this agreement.

Termination for non-compliance with any house rule constitutes grounds for immediate termination of the licence, which loses also the security amount.

20.7 Security Contribution Return and Processing Time

The security contribution will be processed for return after the occupant vacates, subject to:

- completion of notice obligations,
- full payment of all occupancy fees,
- deductions for cleaning, damage, charges, or breaches.

Processing and reconciliation of the security contribution may take up to ten (10) business days from the end of occupancy.

Any approved refund will be issued after this processing period.

20.8 Deductions and Outstanding Amounts

Any unpaid occupancy fees, damages, penalties, or charges will be deducted from the security contribution.

If deductions exceed the security contribution, the occupant remains liable for the balance.

20.9 Non-Payment

Occupancy fees are payable weekly or monthly, as agreed.

Failure to pay for more than one week constitutes a serious breach and may result in immediate requirement to vacate.

In the event of termination due to non-payment:

- the occupant's belongings may be removed from the designated sleeping space and placed outside the premises,
- the security contribution may be applied as follows:
 - up to one (1) week of unpaid occupancy fees,
 - one (1) additional week retained to cover vacancy and replacement costs.

20.10 Final Authority

Management's assessment of payments, timelines, deductions, and compliance under this section is final.

21. Termination Periods and Vacating Timeframes

21.1 General Principle

Occupancy may be terminated at any time in accordance with these house rules. Termination periods vary depending on the nature of the situation and the behaviour of the occupant.

Where any termination or non-renewal occurs, the minimum occupancy obligations set out in the Private Occupancy Licence continue to apply unless expressly waived in writing by management.

These breach termination provisions operate in accordance with and are authorised by the Private Occupancy Licence, including the carve-out from the standard notice period in Clause 5.1 of the Private Occupancy Licence.

21.2 Termination for Serious Breach

Where an occupant commits a serious breach of house rules, the licence may be terminated immediately.

In such cases, the occupant will be required to vacate within twenty-four (24) hours of receiving termination notice, unless a shorter or longer timeframe is specified by the house manager.

Serious breaches include, but are not limited to:

- refusal to comply with house rules,
- withholding or threatening to withhold occupancy fee,

- repeated misuse of common areas,
- interference with management operations,
- harassment, intimidation, or disruptive behaviour,
- safety or security risks.

21.3 Termination for Repeated or Ongoing Non-Compliance

Where an occupant demonstrates repeated non-compliance that does not require immediate termination, the house manager may terminate the licence with a short notice period.

In these cases, the occupant may be required to vacate within forty-eight (48) to seventy-two (72) hours, as determined by the house manager.

21.4 Standard Termination Without Breach

Where there is no breach, termination may occur through:

- non-renewal of the licence, or
- provision of the standard notice period as outlined elsewhere in this agreement.

21.5 Vacating Deadline

All termination notices will specify a clear date and time by which the occupant must vacate.

Failure to vacate by the stated deadline results in unauthorised occupancy and may be treated as trespass.

21.6 No Right to Extension

Occupants do not have a right to request extensions, negotiate termination periods, or delay vacating.

Occupants have no right to request, demand, or engineer non-renewal as a method of ending occupancy.

Any extension is granted solely at the discretion of the house manager and must be confirmed in writing.

21.7 Effect on Security Contribution

Termination does not suspend financial obligations. Any unpaid occupancy fees, damages, penalties, or charges may be deducted from the security contribution.

21.8 Authority

The house manager's assessment of breach severity, applicable termination period, and vacating timeframe is final.

Occupants acknowledge that continued presence after termination constitutes unauthorised occupancy.

22. Non-Exhaustive Rules Clause

The absence of a specific rule does not imply permission.

Any behaviour not expressly permitted is prohibited unless approved in writing by management.
